COVID-19 remains a threat to our local health and safety. For more information regarding the risks associated with COVID-19, please review the BC CDC guidelines for recreation facilities:
<http://www.bccdc.ca/health-info/diseases-conditions/covid-19/community-settings/recreation-facilities>

The District has taken steps to implement communicable disease prevention measures, which are available for your review here: <https://westvancouverrec.ca/general-information/health-safety>

The risk remains that a communicable disease outbreak could occur despite our best efforts.

It is vital that no person who feels sick in any way visit any of our facilities and/or participate in any of our programs or services. It is also vital that no person bring a child to any of our facilities if the child is feeling unwell or showing any symptoms of illness.

It is also vital that participants follow program and facility policies and guidelines, listen to staff, be respectful of other's personal space and be considerate and compassionate of other people's personal situations. Any person who exhibits any aggressive or inappropriate behaviour towards District staff or any other person in one of our facilities will be asked to leave and not return.

In addition to the risks associated with communicable diseases, there are also risks associated with you or your child's participation in physical activity, training, exercise, sports, adventure or outdoor activities, as well as other activities. This includes, but is not limited to, the risk of personal injury and risks related to the use of District of West Vancouver facilities (where applicable).
